A message from High Point University President Dr. Martinson

ongratulations Class of 1998

We are proud of you. When I was a boy, I learned a verse by Longfellow which has haunted me in a good way:

Lives of great men [women] all remind us

We can make our lives sublime, And departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time.

What a splendid message that sent to me in my youth - it still does. Each of us is special, and we want to use our live for something that counts. We want purpose and direction. I prayed for that in my youth, and I still do. I think all of us want purpose to our existence, that which motivates us to do good and even great things. What is good? What is great? Goodness and even greatness to me is giving from the heart, anything else is a cheat on life.

In spite of what we may read and hear about our society in need, I have great faith in students. You are the future, and I have faith in you. Our prayers go with you always.

With highest regard,

community.

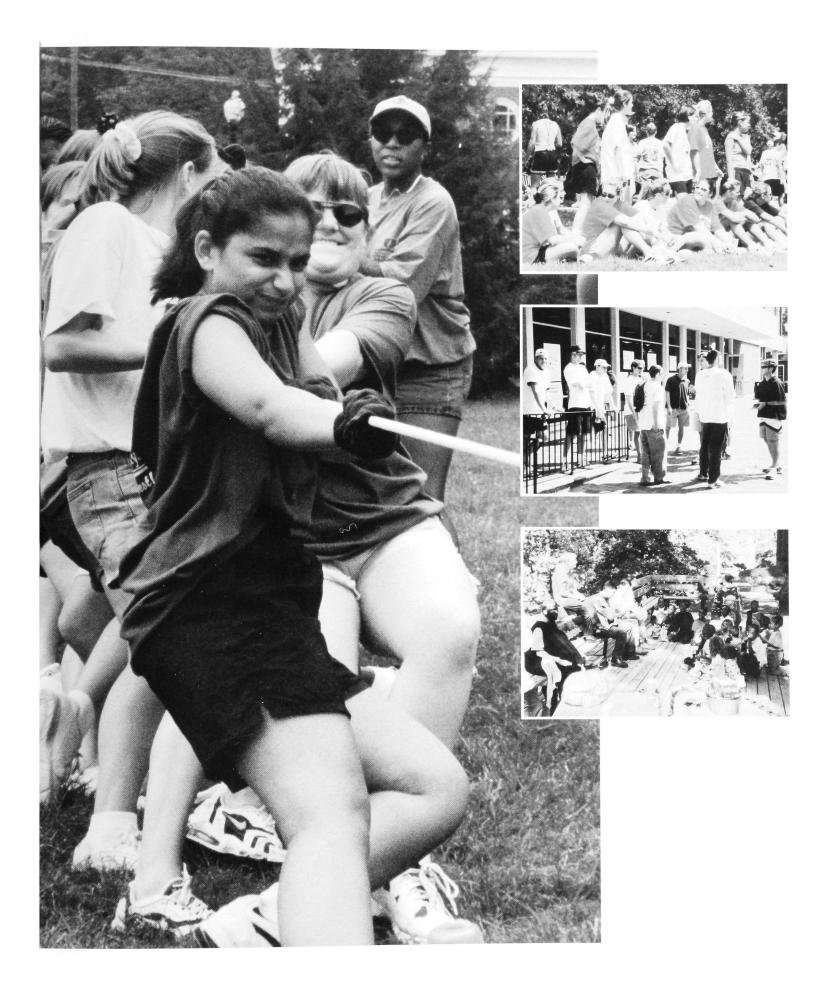

Our community

We arrived on campus our freshmen year knowing no one. As we began to participate in activities, we recognized faces and remembered names. Acquaintances and friendships were formed as we served our campus and our community. As seniors, we realized the value of that community and the process which brought us to that point.
